Invitation to the Third World Conference on Cluttering on 16-17 September 2023

You are cordially invited to join us at the Third World Conference on Cluttering. This year, our conference will be held at the University of Silesia in Katowice, Poland. It will take place on 16-17 September 2023, which should allow ample time to enjoy keynote speakers, information on the latest research and clinical experiences through presentations, posters, workshops and mini seminars. This will also offer the opportunity to exchange and discuss ideas and thoughts through participation in formal and informal discussions. We also hope that there will be plenty of time for our growing community to interact and expand.
